MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF GUEST CABINET SECRETARY, MINISTRY OF EDUCATION

It gives me great pleasure to extend my warmest congratulations to The Nyeri National Polytechnic graduating Class of 2026 on this 6th Graduation Ceremony. This is a moment of immense pride for the graduands, for their families, and for the nation.

The Nyeri National Polytechnic occupies a distinguished place in Kenya's technical education landscape. Its growth from modest beginnings into a centre of excellence, its elevation to National Polytechnic status, and its accreditation as a Qualifications Awarding Body all bear testimony to the quality of training and the calibre of leadership that define this institution. The six graduating classes produced since its elevation to a National Polytechnic represent hundreds of trained technicians, skilled artisans, and innovative problem-solvers now contributing meaningfully to Kenya's economic and social development.

The Government has made the transformation of the TVET sector a central priority. Enrolment in TVET institutions has grown from approximately 300,000 to over 700,000. Nearly 6,000 new trainers were recruited last year alone, with a further 5,800 approvals in the current financial year. A landmark agreement with our development partners will see 70 TVET institutions across the country equipped with modern machinery. The TVET sub-sector allocation now stands at Ksh 29 billion, and we have rationalised fees across all public institutions to ensure that every deserving Kenyan has a fair opportunity to access technical training.

The comprehensive shift to Competency-Based Education and Training marks perhaps the most consequential reform underway. Under CBET, a trainee's certificate is no longer a record of time spent in a classroom but a verified demonstration of competence. Complemented by the mandatory Dual Training Policy and the operationalisation of the Recognition of Prior Learning framework, our TVET system is now firmly aligned with the demands of industry and the aspirations of our learners.

To the graduands, you are the living proof that Kenya's commitment to technical and vocational excellence is producing results. The world runs on competence, on the skilled hands and trained minds that build infrastructure, power our institutions, drive our industries, and safeguard our communities. I challenge you not merely to seek employment but to create value. Kenya needs entrepreneurs, problem-solvers, and innovators who understand the practical dimensions of our economy.

To the trainers and staff, your quiet, patient, and persistent work in transferring knowledge and inspiring confidence in learners is the foundation upon which this ceremony stands. The Ministry of Education sees your contribution and values it deeply.

To the parents, guardians, and families, you are the bedrock of today's achievement. No policy framework can replace the encouragement, sacrifice, and belief you have invested in your children. On behalf of the Government of Kenya, I honour you.

The story of TVET in Kenya is told not in headlines but in outcomes. In communities that function, in families that are stable, and in livelihoods that are dignified. You, the 2026 graduating class, are the newest authors of that story. Write it with excellence, with integrity, and with the full knowledge that your country needs what you carry in your hands, in your minds, and in your hearts.

Congratulations to each and every one of you. May the skills you have acquired here open doors, build communities, and serve Kenya faithfully for many years to come.

God Bless You. God Bless Nyeri National Polytechnic. God Bless the Republic of Kenya.

Hon. Julius Migos Ogamba, EBS

Cabinet Secretary, Ministry of Education Republic of Kenya

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL SECRETARY STATE DEPARTMENT FOR TVET

It gives me immense pride to join the Nyeri National Polytechnic community in celebrating this 6th Graduation Ceremony. As over 2,500 graduands are conferred with diplomas and certificates today, we mark not only the successful completion of their training, but the entry of a new cohort of skilled, competent, and industry-ready professionals into Kenya's workforce.

The Nyeri National Polytechnic holds a special place in the story of TVET reforms in Kenya. Its accreditation as a Qualifications Awarding Body, its early and committed adoption of Competency-Based Education and Training, the operationalisation of its Open, Distance and e-Learning Centre, and the hosting of the International Research, Science and Innovation Conferences are evidence of an institution that does not simply respond to change but actively shapes it. I have visited this institution and witnessed first-hand the seriousness and dedication with which its trainers and management approach their work. That commitment is reflected in the quality of the graduates we celebrate today.

The State Department for TVET continues to implement far-reaching reforms to ensure that technical training in Kenya is practical, industry-responsive, and globally competitive. We have fully transitioned to CBET, rolled out the modularised curriculum, introduced micro-credentials for lifelong learning, expanded the Recognition of Prior Learning to formally certify skilled workers in the informal sector, launched the National Dual Training Policy to embed industry immersion at the heart of every training programme, and opened international employment pathways through partnerships in Australia, the United Kingdom, and across the hospitality sector globally. These reforms are designed to ensure that every TVET graduate, including those leaving this Polytechnic today, enters the world equipped to compete, to create, and to contribute.

To the graduands, you leave this institution with a skill that was earned through discipline and hard work, and with the knowledge that you are part of a national movement to build Kenya's productive capacity from the ground up. Whether you enter formal employment, launch your own enterprise, or take your competencies beyond Kenya's borders, do so with confidence and integrity. The training you have received here has prepared you well. The rest is in your hands.

To the parents and families, your support has been the foundation of every achievement we honour today. To the Governing Council, the Chief Principal, the management, trainers, and staff of The Nyeri National Polytechnic, your dedication to excellence is seen, valued, and deeply appreciated.

If education is the key, then TVET is the master key because it converts knowledge into practical skills, productivity, and economic opportunity. I am proud of what this institution represents, and I am confident that the Class of 2026 will carry forward its tradition of excellence.

Congratulations, and may God bless you all.

MESSAGE FROM GOVERNOR NYERI COUNTY

It gives me great pleasure to convey my warmest congratulations to all the graduands of the 6th Graduation Ceremony of The Nyeri National Polytechnic. This is your day. A day of celebration, thanksgiving, and new beginnings. You have earned it through hard work, discipline, and determination.

To the parents, guardians, and sponsors who have walked this journey alongside our graduands, I extend my deepest appreciation. The sacrifices you have made to invest in the education and training of these young men and women have borne fruit today. This achievement is as much yours as it is theirs.

The theme of this ceremony, “Skills that Develop Nations: Training for Prosperity,” captures the very essence of what we are building in Nyeri County and across Kenya. Our future will not be determined by how many certificates we produce, but by how many skilled, competent, and innovative young people we prepare for the world of work and enterprise.

My Government remains deeply committed to supporting education and skills development at every level. Through the Nyeri County Elimu Fund, investments in our 28 youth polytechnics, the expansion of our internship programme, and our growing partnership with The Nyeri National Polytechnic on dual training, we are working to ensure that every young person in this County has access to quality, relevant, and market-driven training.

To the graduands, I urge you to go out and put your skills to work. Be bold. Be enterprising. Create opportunities for yourselves and for others. The training you have received here has equipped you not just for employment, but for leadership in building a more prosperous Kenya.

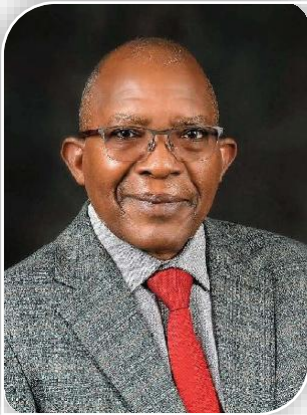

I commend the Governing Council, the Chief Principal, the trainers, and the entire NNP fraternity for their dedication to excellence. May this institution continue to grow as a beacon of skills development and innovation.

God bless you all. God bless Nyeri County.

H.E. Hon. Dr. Mutahi Kahiga, EGH

Governor, Nyeri County

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR, GOVERNING COUNCIL

The true measure of an institution's governance is not found in the regularity of its meetings or the volume of its resolutions. It is found in the quality of the outcomes it enables — in the competence of its graduates, the integrity of its systems, and the alignment of its programmes with the development needs of the nation. It is against this standard that the Governing Council of the Nyeri National Polytechnic accounts for its stewardship.

On behalf of the Council, I am honoured to welcome you to this 6th Graduation Ceremony, held under the theme “Skills that Develop Nations: Training for Prosperity.” This theme speaks directly to the strategic purpose of Technical and Vocational Education and Training in Kenya today: the deliberate cultivation of human capital as the primary driver of national productivity and economic transformation. That approximately 2,500 graduands are being conferred with qualifications at this ceremony is a statement not merely of institutional throughput, but of structured capacity development at scale.

The governance mandate of this Council is to provide strategic oversight, ensure institutional accountability, and create the conditions under which The Nyeri National Polytechnic can fulfil its mandate with distinction. As a Council, we have prioritised the alignment of the Polytechnic's programmes with the priorities of the Bottom-Up Economic Transformation Agenda, the strengthening of compliance with TVETA standards and the Kenya National Qualifications Framework, and the deepening of Competency-Based Education and Training across all departments.

Of particular strategic significance is the Polytechnic's continued investment in digital transformation and innovation. The operationalisation of the Jitume ICT Laboratory and the Open, Distance and e-Learning Centre represents an institutional commitment to building digital competencies that respond to the demands of a modern economy. Equally, the institution's pioneering deployment of artificial intelligence in examination management demonstrates a willingness to lead, not merely to follow, in the adoption of emerging technologies within the TVET sector.

The Council has further prioritised the expansion of Recognition of Prior Learning as a critical pathway for inclusivity — ensuring that Kenyans who have acquired competencies through informal and non-formal settings are assessed, certified, and accorded the professional recognition they deserve. This is a matter of national equity, and this institution has positioned itself at the forefront of its implementation.

Looking ahead, the Governing Council will continue to focus on infrastructure development, the strengthening of industry partnerships, investment in staff capacity and professional development, and the entrenchment of a culture of innovation and institutional excellence. These are governance imperatives that the Council is committed to resourcing and monitoring with the rigour they demand.

I wish to commend the Chief Principal, Mrs. Rachel N. Kimani, and the entire management team for the calibre of leadership and operational discipline they bring to the institution. To the trainers and support staff, the quality of what this Polytechnic produces is a direct reflection of your competence and professionalism. To the parents and guardians who have stood behind these graduands, your sacrifice and commitment have yielded a result that speaks for itself today.

To the graduands of the Class of 2026, you enter the professional arena at a moment of significant national investment in skills-led development. The qualifications you have earned here were shaped by a curriculum designed to meet the demands of industry, not the expectations of a classroom alone. You have been trained to think, to problem-solve, and to apply your knowledge in contexts that require both technical precision and ethical judgement. That is a formidable combination. Carry it with confidence, deploy it with purpose, and let the standard of your work affirm the quality of the institution that produced you.

On behalf of the Governing Council, I congratulate each one of you and wish you distinction in the journey ahead.

Dr. David K. Gachuru, PhD

*Chairperson, Governing Council
The Nyeri National Polytechnic*

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF PRINCIPAL

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the Nyeri National Polytechnic's 6th Graduation Ceremony, held under the theme "Skills that Develop Nations: Training for Prosperity." Today, we confer diplomas and certificates upon 2,500 graduands who have successfully completed their training across our ten academic departments, spanning Engineering, Applied and Health Sciences, Business and Social Sciences.

Each of these graduates represents years of sustained effort attending classes, working in workshops and laboratories, meeting assessment requirements, and building the practical competence that the modern workplace demands. Among them are men and women who came to NNP from workshops, farms, and factories, carrying years of hands-on experience. Through our Recognition of Prior Learning Programme, that experience receives its rightful formal certification today.

The Polytechnic now offers 186 programmes at artisan, craft, diploma, and higher diploma levels. We have fully embraced Competency-Based Education and Training, building our curricula around occupational standards defined in partnership with industry. In 2025, we harmonised and modularised 153 programmes, and in 2026 we became the first TVET institution in Kenya accredited to offer Level 7 Higher Diploma programmes, giving our graduates a clear pathway to grow within the TVET system without having to transfer elsewhere.

We have also continued to strengthen industrial linkages to ensure our trainees gain real workplace exposure before completing their studies. Since May 2024, over 300 trainees have been participating in dual training, alternating between classroom instruction and structured experience in industry. This model ensures that our graduates leave here not merely qualified but ready for the demands of the working world.

The institution's commitment to quality is further reflected in our ISO 21001:2025 certification for a Management System for Educational Organizations (EOMS), the only such accreditation held by a higher learning institution in Kenya, in our digitised assessment systems, and in the Jitume ICT Lab and e-Learning Centre where young people from NNP and the surrounding community are earning real incomes through digital work on global platforms. Our partnership with the Signet Institute of Australia aligns our training with European Union market standards, and NNP graduates are already working internationally through the Government's Kazi Majuu and Mkulima Majuu programmes.

I wish to sincerely thank the Governing Council for its strategic leadership, and the Government for its sustained investment in the TVET sector through capitation, infrastructure support, and a sound policy environment. I also commend our trainers, administrators, and support staff, whose daily dedication ensures that this institution delivers on its mandate.

To our sponsors and industry partners, every attachment placement, every bursary, every piece of equipment donated, and every MOU signed with this institution has a human face in this graduating class. We thank you, and we invite you to continue partnering with us.

To the parents and families, thank you for the confidence you have placed in us and for the support you have given to these graduates throughout their training. The early mornings, the sacrifices, the encouragement when things got difficult; none of it went unnoticed, and none of it was wasted. This certificate belongs to you, too.

And to the Class of 2026, the skills you carry today were built through hard work, practice, and determination, much of which we have witnessed firsthand. You leave here with more than a certificate. You leave with evidence that Kenya's TVET system produces graduates who can hold their own anywhere in the world. Take the same discipline that brought you to this stage into your careers and enterprises, and it will serve you well.

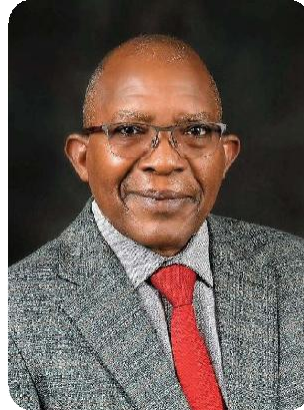

The door you walk through today does not close behind you. It opens onto a future that is entirely yours to shape. Go and build your families, your communities, your country. And wherever the world takes you, carry what NNP gave you and use it well.

On behalf of the management of the Nyeri National Polytechnic, I congratulate you on this achievement and wish you every success in the next chapter of your journey.
